CONVENTION OF ELKS

Hosts Arriqe to Attend the Philadelphia Meeting.

CITY IS GAILY DECORATED

Philadelphia, July 16.—Opening day of the Elks' convention week was greeted with clear, warm weather, not too warm, however, to make the day unpleasant. The first delegation came from Mobile, Ala. Big hosts arrived every hour.

Grand Secretary Robinson said the registration of delegates to the grand lodge meeting is the largest in the history of the order. The city is decorated as it never has been before.

The convention of the grand lodge was formally opened at the Grand opera house Monday night with prayer, songs and speeches.

The members and their ladies were conveyed there in specially chartered steamers, which before landing made a tour of the river, passing the League Island navy yard and the big ship building plants.

The festivities at the park began with a clam bake and sea food dinner. Those who did not go to the clam bake spent the day in greeting new arrivals or in visiting historic places in Philadelphia and vicinity. Independence hall, in which the old Liberty Bell hangs, was the favorite place for most of the visitors.

John K. Tener, of Charlerio, Pa., the grand treasurer, a candidate for grand exalted ruler, seems to lead for that high honor, and his election is freely predicted.

Dallas, Tex., appears to have the field to itself at present as the place for the next convention.

GRAFTERS MUST GO.

Graft Prosecution of 'Frisco to Name New Mayor on Monday.

San Francisco, July 16.—Although it was said Sunday night by members of the graft prosecution that in all probability the new mayor would be chosen Monday, they refused to reveal the identity of the citizen selected for the position. Rumor has connected at least half a dozen well known persons with the office, but denials have been made in many of the cases.

The first feature of the program arranged by the prosecution is the resignation of Charles Boxton as mayor. Boxton's resignation will retire him to private life, leaving 15 boodling supervisors to be forced out by the prosecution. The fifteen are to resign as soon as the new mayor is elected.

Counting the Boxton vacancy the chief executive to be named will have sixteen places on the board to fill, which duty will not be delayed any longer than is absolutely necessary

Conductor Was Decapitated.

Savannah, Ga., July 16.—C. D. Beliotte, a yard conductor of the Central railway, was decapitated Saturday by his engine running over him. Beliote was standing on the running board of the engine and attempted to examine his foot when he slipped and fell. Beliotte has been in Savannah about a week, coming from Greenville, S. C., where he leaves a family.

Trolley Cars Collide.

Montomery, Ala., July 16.—In the main part of the city at 9 o'clock Saturday morning a collision of street cars resulting in wrecking them badly and injuring three or four persons. The accident resulted from a miscalculation on the part of one of the motormen, he thinking the other would clear a certain point before his car would. The crews of both cars were arrested for reckless running.

TRIAL OF ITALIANS BEGINS.

Lamana Boy's Kidnapers and Murderers Face Judge and Jury.

Hahnville, La., July 16—Including the impaneling of a jury which began Monday, less than a week is expected to suffice for the trial of four Italians for the kidnaping and murder of Walter Lamana, a New Orleans child. It is planned to begin court session by 8 a. m., and to continue them until 7 or 8 o'clock at night.

Not only does public sentiment make a speedy trial desirable, but there are not enough accommodations here for even the officials whose presence is necessary. The jury will be compelled to camp out on improvised beds in one of the regular court rooms.

The trials are the first of a series for the same crime, involving ten persons, and it is the prosecution's aim to show that the strangling of the Lamana boy was only an incident among many blackmailing schemes on foot in the Italian population of this section.

The four prisoners will be brought here from New Orleans, where they have been since arrest. They will remain during trial in the court house jail, which stands in a sugar cane field and has no house except the sheriff's, within half a mile.

Campisciano is the man, who, under compulsion, led a posse into the swamp where the boy's body was concealed.

New Orleans, July 16.—Tony Costa, one of the several Italians placed on trial Monday in St. Charles parish, charged with the kidnaping and murder of eight-year-old Walter Lamana, made an unsuccessful effort to hang himself in the parish prison here early Monday morning.

Taking a big handkerchief, he knotted it around his neck and then made it fast to the grating of his cell door while on his tiptoes. Throwing himself backwards, he succeeded in strangling himself into unconsciousness, and was discovered and cut down just in time to save his life.

Prison officials then ordered that all of the prisoners held in connection with the case be stripped and left nude until time to take them to Hahnville, the seat of St. Charles parish. The order was carried out.

CELEBRATES 90th BIRTHDAY.

Bishop Bowman Has Lived Longer Than Any Methodist Bishop.

New York, July 16.—The Rt. Rev. Dr. Thomas Bowman, senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal denomination of Orange, N. J., celebrated hi ninetieth birthday Monday.

Bishop Bowman has the distinction of having lived longer than any Methodist bishop. He is well preserved, is seen almost daily on the streets of Orange, N. J., where he walks, and is as much interested in the affairs of his church as when he was ordained in 1839.

During his bishopric he has attended at least two conventions in every state in the union. He has traveled around the world twice and has officiated at religious gatherings in Mexico, Europe, India, China and Japan, and has dedicated more than 1,000 churches. He retired from active work six years ago.

TO PROBE CRUELTY CHARGES.

Alabama Legislature Appoints Committee to Investigate.

Montgomery, Ala., July 16.—Governor Comer has signed the resolution to investigate the charges of cruelty at the state insane hospital as passed by the legislature.

Senators Spragins and Hayes have been named as members of the committee, with three to be named from the house.

A score or so of affidavits have been filed alleging that patients were cruelly treated in one or two events of inflicting fatal wounds on one or two occupants; also that patients were left in cold halls, naked, all night, and at times became so hungry that they fished pieces of bread from the swill barrels.

6 KILLED, 20 HURT

KILLED WERE ALL NEGROES

East Bound Vestibule No. 42 Collided With Switch Engine—Labor Agent Moore, in Charge of Negroes, Fatally Hurt.

Johnson City, Tenn., July 16.—Six persons lost instant death and 2 were injured when extra vestibule No. 42, on the Southern railway, collided with a switch engine one mile west of Johnson City Sunday night.

The switch engine was in charge of a hostler, who, when he saw the fast passenger train coming toward him, reversed his engine and jumped to safety. Scarcely had he done so before the pas enger crashed into the light engine with fearful force.

Engine on Wild Run.

The engine of the passenger, baggage car, mail car and second-class coach were derailed and overturned, but the switch engine was not lifted from the rails and with full head of steam, started on a wild run, which was not ended until a switch was thrown for it and it was ditched at Carnegie.

The lives of the mail clerk were saved because of the fact that their car was of heavy steel construction. The heavy car, however, played havoc with the light second-class coach behind, which was entirely telescoped. The second-class coach was occupied by George Moore, white, a labor agent for the Virginia and Southwestern railroad, who was conducting a party of twenty negroes from Alabama to North Carolina. Moore was perhaps fatally hurt, and of the negroes, six were killed outright and all the others maimed and injured.

Blame Put on Operator.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—Reports received here by the Southern railway say that the deaths from the wreck near Johnson City, Tenn., number from six to ten, and that the wreck was caused by the telegraph operator making a mistake in copying the train orders.

POISONED BABE AND SELF.

Tragic Affair Follows a Trivial Domestic Quarrel.

Hawkinsville, Ga., July 16.—A terrible case of life-taking occurred 8 miles below Hawkinsville Sunday morning, Mrs. Mack McKinney giving poison to her 2-year-old daughter and then swallowing some herself, both dying in great agony.

It is said that Mrs. McKinney and her husband awoke in good spirits, but soon had a few words, she declaring that she would take her children and go to her father's home. Nothing more was said.

Mr. McKinney took the baby in his arms and went out for a walk. Presently his wife walked down the road where he was, saying, "I have taken strychnine enough to kill myself, and given our little girl some."

He didn't think she meant it, and they returned home where the mother and child soon died.

Killed by Unknown Parties.

Americus, Ga., July 16.—Thomas Dixon, a prominent young merchant of Lacrosse, six miles northwest of Americus, was shot and instantly killed Saturday night by unknown parties. Young Dixon was going in the direction of a crowd of negroes, who had attended a picnic, and the supposition is that some black reveler wantonly killed him.

Woman Killed by Lightning.

Jefferson, Ga., July 16.—Mrs. R. E. Lee Burns, daughter of Pink Mercer, was struck by lightning and killed while driving some chickens in the back yard at her home. She lived at Twiggsville, near here. Mrs. Burns was of a prominent family in the community.

TENTH WEEK OF TRIAL.

End of Haywood Case Within Measurable Distance.

Boise, Idaho, July 16.—The end of the trial of William D. Haywood, secretary and treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with conspiracy to murder, is now within measurable distance.

The case will now enter its tenth week of hearing before Judge Wood in the district court of Ada county. Both sides have finished and the rebuttal has been commenced. Evidence has been introduced in support of the charge brought by the state of Idaho that a conspiracy existed among high officials of the Western Federation of Miners to intimidate all persons who ran counter to the purposes of union labor with a view to establishing members of organized bodies of working men as masters of the situation, thus commencing a political and industrial reorganization, which, having its initiative in the west should spread with irresistible force throughout every section of the country. Evidence has been introduced to show that in pursuance of this conspiracy eighteen men were murdered.

Counter Conspiracy Charged.

In defense of the man immediately concerned and of the officers of the Western Federation of Miners, who are charged with participating in the plans of murder, as a means to the desired ends, evidence has been introduced to show that another and counter-conspiracy existed among employers of labor in the west looking to the annihilation of the Western Federation of Miners in particular, because the federation represented the cause of organized labor. Evidence has been introduced to show that in furtherance of the conspiracy among employers and capitalists eighteen innocent men were killed, the contitution of the United States was violated and the conspiracy culminated in the state of Idaho becoming a party to an attempt to compass the death of the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners, whose secretary is now on trial.

Will Defend Orchard's Story.

The state of Idaho, through its representative counsel, will argue to the jury witain the netx two weeks that Orchard's story is true and that there did exist the widespread conspiracy to terrorize what is called by the defendants in this case "the capitalistic class."

The Western Federation of Miners through its attorneys, will argue that Orchard is a perjurer for reward, the reward being immunity from punishment for the murder of former Governor Steunenberg, and that a conspiracy now exists on the part of the mine owners and employers of labor to discredit the Western Federation of Miners, even though Haywood and Moyer and Pettibone should hang in pursuance of their plans.

Dam For Electric Plant.

Culloden, Ga., uly 16.—A northern concern has a surveying corps at work on the Flint river, ten miles below here, locating a dam for an electric plant The power will be sold to nearby towns, but the principal cause of building the plant is to furnish power for an electric line to be run through this section. The line will de elop one of the best sections of Georgia.

Negro Killed While Asleep.

Atlanta, July 16.—While three negroes were sleeping in one bed at the Hudson camp No. 3, on the Adamsville road, one mile and a half beyond Battle Hill, Saturday night, one was murdered, one fatally hurt, and the third awakened just in time to see two negroes leaving the shack, after completing their deed of butchery, and robbing their victims.

German Oarsmen to Compete.

New York, July 16.—Oarsmen are turning their attention to the national championships which will be held in Philadelphia on August 9 and 10. The news that Germany will be present, the first time that men have been sent across the water in many years is exciting interest, and records are being hunted up and comparisons made as to the speed of the Disastrous Eruption on Peninsular of Kamchatka.

RUIN FROM VOLCANO

SCORES OF NATIVES PERISH

For Days the Country Was Plunged in Dakness from the Great Showers of Black Ashes That Descended Upon the Land.

San Francisco, July 16.—The outburst of a volcano on the peninsula of Kamchatka, on Feb. 18 last, threw the whole country into utter darkness for more than forty-eight hours and resulted in the starving of scores of natives, according to the officers of the barkentine S. N. Castle, that arrived in port Sunday direct from the Okhotosk sea.

The natives, some of whom could speak English, told Captain Pedersen and his men that they had no knowledge of the source of the terrible storm that had come upon them.

They knew only that while they were crossing the valleys in the first flush of spring a wave of dust fell upon them, followed by utter darkness that continued for two days and nights.

Lava, almost hot, fell about them, and there were such showers of black ashes that their progress was stayed.

The party of natives was in dire straits, and some of them had succumbed to their hardships.

In response to the request, Captain Pedersen sent off two boat loads of provisions which the suffering natives said would suffice to keep them on the way to Petropaulocsk.

RIOT AT ROANOKE, VA.

Trifling Matter Started Mob After the Greek Restaurants.

Roanoke, Va., July 16.—Roanoke is quiet, after four hours' of rioting Saturday night, when a mob wrecked nine Greek restaurants, three Greek shoe shine parlors, and two Syrian hops. The riot was caused by a dipute about 5 cents between a Greek employed in the Belmont Greek restuarant, on Salem avenue, and an American, who went there to buy a sandwich.

Nine places were wrecked on Salem one on Nelson treet and one on (street, one on Nelson street and one on Railroad avenue.

Five men have been arrested and lodged in jail, and one of them has been released on $250 bond for his appearance at the hearing of the case in the police court Thursday. None of the Greeks are under arrest.

SPAT UPON "OLD GLORY."

Jap Narrowly Escaped at Hands of Enraged Americans.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 16.—T. Yoni, a Japanese employed as a wiper in the Southern Pacific shops in this city, narrowly escaped serious injury at the hands of an enraged mob of American workmen Sunday.

Yoni was wiping an engine on which had been placed two small American flags. While wiping the engine Yoni turned and deliberately spat upon one of the flags. His action was seen by another workman who immediately pulled Yoni from the engine to the grouund at the same time acquainting the other workmen in the building of Yoni's act. A crowd quickly surrounded the Jap and he was being roughly handled when he managed to elude his assailants and escaped.

Brown Recovers Jewels.

New York, July 16.—Julius L. Brown, of Atlanta, Ga., appeared in police court Sunday as complainant against Rose Edwards, John Edwards and Lottie Brown, the two last named negroes, who were arrested on suspicion after Brown had been robbed of 19 stick pins said to be valued at $12,000. Eleven of the pins were recovered. The prisoners were held in $5,000 bail each for examination. Brown had been on a visit to Saratoga and had stopped over here Saturday night when he was robbed.

JABBED IN EYE WOMAN MET DEATH

HIS WIFE WAS THE VICTIM

McNeill and The Woman Were Celebrating the Fourth at Cone's Crossing, Which Ended Fatally—Both Said to Have Been Drinking.

Walter McNeill, a Hawthorn negro, is in the Putnam county jail in Palatka upon a serious charge, that of causing the death of his wife by jabbing her in the eye with the sharp point of an umbrella during a quarrel at Cone's Crossing on the Fourth of July. It is stated that the man deliberately thrust the umbrella in the woman's eye, from the effects of which she died on the following Saturday.

Body Was Exhumed.

The unfortunate woman died Saturday night in great pain, and the remains were buried Sunday. Considerable feeling was aroused over the matter, and on Wednesday the body was exhumed and a post-mortem examination conducted under direction of Dr. Channing of Hawthorn, when the report was made that the deceased came to her death as the result of a fracture of the skull, caused by some blunt instrument.

Immediately after the report of the physician McNeill was arrested and taken to Palatka, the alleged crime having been committeed in Putnam county.

It is said that both McNeill and his wife were drinking at the time of the alleged tragedy.

McNeill has been employed for a long time by R. H. Smith of Hawthorn, and has always been regarded as a peaceable, law-abiding citizen. The white people of that section have always given him a good name.

WOMAN WEIGHED 500 POUNDS.

Biggest Woman in New Jersey Has Just Died.

In order that her body may be taken out of the house for interment, one of the window frames was removed and ixteen inches of the brick work at the side of it. It took 12 men to carry the coffin to the street, and as there was no hearse large enough to hold it, it was conveyed to the cemetery in a wagon.

Mrs. McMahon weighed nearly 500 pounds.

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE.

State Prohibition Now Seems To Be Foregone Conclusion.

Atlanta, July 16.—State prohibition in Georgia is now about assured.

When the senate by a vote of 31 to 7 passed the Hardman bill Saturday morning whatever doubt of immediate state prohibition that may have existed was dispelled and the opponents of the bill gave up the last vestige of the hope of defeating it.

That the house is overwhelmingly in favor of the bill as passed by the senate is asserted as freely by the opponents of prohibition as by its advocates.

House Passes Thirty Bills.

While the senate passed one bill Saturday, the house passed thirty, and then adjourned in time to watch the vote on the prohibition measure in the upper house.

The house opened the way for more new bills, and for a quarter of an hour Reading Clerk McCatchey was busy reading measures for the first time.

Among the more important of these measures was that of Mr Brown of Oglethorpe. His bill provides for the relief of those landowners who rent out their farms to tenants without a lien other than that upon the crop, so that if the tenant is seen to neglect the crop, the owner has the right to remove the tenant in order to protect his own interest.

Another bill of general interest is that by Mr. Smith of Campbell, which seeks to reorganize the state troops of the state so that the adjutant general's salary shall be $3,000 instead of $2,000 per annum.

A great deal of interest was manifested in the house over the report of the committee on railroads which was formulated on Friday recommending a substitute for the Joe Hill Hall anti-pass bill, which has not yet been made to the house, and a great fight for the Hall bill will be made. Those men on the committee who voted with Mr Hall for his original bill have served notice of a minority report on this bill, but may change their tactics and offer the original Hall bill in the house as a substitute for the committee substitute.

There are a large number of representatives who think that the original Hall bill covers the question sufficiently, and will be adopted by the house.

When adjournment was taken it was to meet again Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Best Medicine in the World for Colic and Diarrhoea.

"I find Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to be the best remedy in the world," says Mr. C. L. Carter of Skirum, Ala. "I am subject to colic and diarrhoea. Last spring it seemed as though I would die, and I think I would if I hadn't taken Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I haven't been troubled with it since until this week, when I had a very severe attack and took half a bottle of the twenty-five cent size Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and this morning I feel like a new man." For sale by all druggists.

SHOT WIFE AND SELF.

Atlanta, July 15.—While his tenmonths-old baby looked innocently on, John Lindsay, a negro, shot his wife, Annie Lindsay, in the head and then sent a bullet crashing into his own brain shortly before 7 o'clock Saturday morning.

Lindsay died instantly, but his wife is now in the Grady hospital, and the surgeons are unable at present to say whether or not she will live.

With the exception of the baby, no one saw the shooting, and all that is positively known is what the woman gasped to Officer Echols, of the headquarters' bicycle squad, just before she was sent to the hospital. She said her husband had shot her because she would not go down to their old home in Williamson, Pike county, and then shot himself.

From the positions of the two when found, there was considerable doubt as to which of the pair pulled the trigger, but Coroner Thompson is inclined to the belief that it was Lindsay who did the deadly work.

BASEBALL TODAY.

Gainesville and Starke Teams Promise Interesting Game.

The Starke and Gainesville baseball teams will clash at the ball lot today in what promises to be a very interesting struggle.

The Gainesville team has been putting up some very vigorous practice in the last few days and is arriving at the point where they may be expected to make a very creditable showing against any team in this "neck of the woods." The infield will be the best seen here in some time, and few will be the "bounders" and "grasscutters" that go through them, while nothing need be said about the outfield. There is no kick coming in that quarter.

Very little, indeed, is known about the Starke team. There is not the slightest doubt but that they have one of the strongest teams in the State of Florida. They have an excellent battery, Anderson and Ashley, and they have not lost a game this year, which is a very enviable record and one of which they should feel proud.

While the Oak Halls have not made a record of "all games won," they are going into this game with the full intention of putting it in the "won" column—in other words, they are going to do their very best to hand the Starke aggregation a nice, juicy, yellow lemon.

A feature of the game, as stated in yesterday's Sun, will be the presentation of a sterling silver souvenir spoon to the lady holding the lucky number. This is done in order to encourage attendance among the ladies.

All those having a desire to see the performance may have it gratified by presenting themselves at the gate at 3:30 p. m., accompanied by a twenty-five cent piece.

FORCE IS BUSY.

Men Working Night and Day in Order to Finish Interior of New Bank.

The contractors for the new Gainesville National Bank are working a large force of men on the interior of the building day and night in order to finish same for the opening of the institution on the 20th inst.

There is a great deal of work yet to be done, and it looks very doubtful that the place will be ready, but the contractors are hustlers and are bending every energy to finish the job as soon as possible.

When completed this will be one of the handsomest banks in the country, and a credit to the city.

Gainesville is fortunate in having not only substantial banking institutions, but handsome ones also. It is rumored that extensive alterations will be made in the Dutton Bank during the summer.

COUNTY JUDGE'S COURT.

Interesting Case, in Which Verdict Was Rendered for Claimant.

There was an interesting case in County Judge Mason's Court Monday, being the case of T. R. Pickett of Newberry vs. L. W. Banks and J. R. Williams, claimant, contest of rights of property.

The morning was spent in the selection of a jury, of which George Evans was foreman.

After hearing evidence and argument in the case, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the claimant, J. R. Williams.

Attorney J. A. Carlisle represented the plaintiff, while Attorney W. W. Hampton appeared for the claimant.

DELINQUENTS PAYING UP.

Acting Superintendent Miller After Them With Shut-Off Wrench.

The article which appeared in The Sun of Saturday relative to the large number of water consumers in arrears evidently had its effect, as Acting Superintendent F. X. Miller, armed with his shut-off wrench, started on the war path Monday morning. The patrons in arrears realized that he meant business, with the result that the city treasury is fatter now by a great deal than this time last week.

Mr. Miller is continuing his work, and says he has been compelled to cut off the water in only a very few instances.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Held Special Session Tuesday Afternoon, Finishing Tax Books.

The City Council met in special session Tuesday afternoon, a quorum being present, when that body proceeded in the work of equalizing the taxes, completing the task.

An ordinance in regard to the issuing of city certificates was presented, read the first and second times and ordered engrossed, after which the Council adjourned until Thursday afternoon.

Owing to the absence of members of the Council, the matter of securing a quorum is proving a difficult one.

A Prominent Visitor.

Among the well-known and successful business men of the State who visited Gainesville Tuesday was Chas. H. Brown, who left on the A. C. L. for points south.

Mr. Brown is president of the Live Oak National Bank, and is one of the moving spirits of that progressive town. While here he took occasion to compliment Gainesville on its rapid growth, and concluded by expressing his pleasure at the friendly relations existing between this city and his own town.

Mr. Brown was accompanied by Joel H. Tucker, with whom he is associated in several business ventures.

The Greek is Improving.

The Greek who was run over and fearfully mangled by a train at Tyler a few days ago, and who is now at the Odd Fellows' Sanitarium in this city, is improving slowly, and it did not become necessary to amputate his limb, which was at first feared. One of his arms was amputated the latter part of last week.

It is said that this unfortunate man has a family consisting of a wife and eight children in Greece, who are dependent upon him for support.

The Smile

That won't come off appears on baby's face after one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, the great worm medicine. Why not keep that smile on baby's face? If you keep this medicine on hand, you will never see anything else but smiles on his face. Mrs. S——, Blackwell, Okla., writes: "My baby was peevish and fretful. Would not eat and I feared he would die. I used a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and he has not had a sick day since." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

General Strike Probable.

San Francisco, July 16.—Unless a settlement of the Commercial Telegraphers strike is effected Tuesday, a general strike may be called. The request for a settlement will be in the nature of a demand for the men who feel they have the approval of President Small as well as the individual indorsement of the membership of the Commercial Telegraphers' union throughout the country.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent baldness by feeding the germs which cause it with Cantharides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.

Women Avoid Operations

MISS ROSE MOORE

The very thought of the hospital, the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart.

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after an operation has been decided upon as the only cure. The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who by taking made from native roots and herbs, have escaped serious operations, as evidenced by Miss Rose Moore's case, of 207 W. 26th St., N. Y. She writes:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured me of the very worst form of female trouble and I wish to express to you my deepest gratitude. I suffered intensely for two years so that I was unable to attend to my duties and was a burden to my family. I doctored and doctored with only temporary relief and constantly objecting to an operation which I was advised to undergo. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it cured me of the terrible trouble and I am now in better health than I have been for many years."

This and other such cases should encourage every woman to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before she submits to an operation.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.

JUSTICE IS DEMANDED.

Through the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Protective Association, of which F. D. Warner of this city is president, the matter of discrimination in freight rates against Florida shippers is likely to soon be settled by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Referring to this discrimination The Fruit Trade Journal and Produce Record, published in New York, has the following from its Washington correspondent in its issue of July 13th:

"The Florida fruit growers have at last succeeded in putting up to the Interstate Commerce Commission in shape in which that body will find definitely in deciding it, the broad question of whether length of haul has anything to do with railroad rates. At casual glance, this would be assumed to be the most weighty factor in fixing rates; but it isn't. Competitive conditions and the problem of what the traffic will bear are really determinative. Distance is really an unimportant factor.

"But here comes the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Shippers' Protective Association, pointing out that the railroads charge 94 cents per one hundred pounds to haul oranges from Florida to New York, 1,203 miles, while charging only $1.15 to haul the same thing from Los Angeles, 3,261 miles, to New York. The Florida people say it is unreasonable and unjust, and demand a new adjustment.

"The Florida people set forth in their petition filed with the commission that, as to some articles, they actually pay considerably higher rates for much shorter distances than do the California raisers of like products. They insist that the business in Florida is very large, yet they are given no carload rates, which California enjoys, and there has been no revision of Florida rates since twenty years ago when the industry was insignificant.

"This case raises squarely the question of distance as a factor. It brings out squarely the tremendous problem in commercial geography that lies at the bottom of the whole railroad rate question in this country.

"The people of Spokane, and of every other intermountain community, have raised much the same issue, pointing out that they are charged more for the shorter haul than the Pacific Coast cities are charged for the longer haul. But the railroads reply that they must meet the water competition to the coast cities, and so are forced to make a low and not remunerative rate to the Pacific Coast terminals. They must earn their real revenues on the business at the interior points.

"Now, in the matter of the Florida complaint, they cannot make this defense. Florida has water facilities for shipping to New York and the East, and so has California. The water route from Florida is indeed a practicable route, while from California, because too long, it is not.

"There is little doubt among people who heard the Spokane case argued that the commission is going to decide against Spokane and place the decision on the ground that the water competition rules the rate of the Pacific Coast terminals. In the Southern cotton mills cases, the commission decided in favor of the New England mills getting a lower rate for a longer haul on the same ground: that the New England mills are nearer the point of water shipment, and therefore get a rate based on water competition; and if this rate is lower than the Southern railroads will give so much the better for the New England cotton interest. The commission declines to interfere.

"It will be impossible to justify such a huge discrimination in the fruit case by putting it on water competition, because the water competition argument is in favor of the Florida fruit growers, and it is shown that, despite this, they are discriminated against.

"The Florida people show that the railroad and water carriers from Florida are practically in a pool and control the rates by concerted action, thus depriving Florida of any real competition. The commission will be forced to decide what weight is to be given to the factor of distance, and however it decides, the decision is certain to be the most important it has made since the new law was passed."

QUESTION OF TRANSPORTATION.

In his comprehensive address delivered before the National Association of Manufacturers of the United States, at Washington, Secretary Root said: "Transportation sums up the trade relations of the United States with the entire world." It was the statement of a self-evident proposition and applicable no less, but even more, to the inland trade and commerce of the country than to the foreign trade and commerce. The facilities of the great railroad systems of the country are frankly admitted by their officials to be wholly inadequate to the demands made upon them by the merchants and the manufacturers of the United States and with equal frankness they concede that the problem of transportation must find its solution in the adequate improvement of the inland waterways and the harbors of the country. The necessity for the improvement of the highways of trade and commerce furnished by nature and too long neglected is not found only in the fact that they would furnish continuous means of transportation to the great inland markets of the country and to the harbors for the export trade, but it is also found in the inevitable fact that they would carry the raw material and the finished product at rates vastly less than the railway rates, in competition with the railways though not in antagonism to them.

That transportation sums up trade relation between the States, the interstate commerce of the country, in a vastly greater degree represented by figures enormously larger than it sums up the trade relations of the United States with the entire world, the bulletin issued from the Department of Commerce and Labor, "The Statistical Record of the Progress of the United States," amply and most conclusively demonstrates. For the year 1906 the value of exports from the United States was $1,743,864,500 and the value of the imports was $1,226,563,843—a most gratifying total of $2,970,428,343. But in the same year the total value of the farm products alone was $3,675,389,442; the value of the iron and steel products was $941,071,093; the value of wool manufactures was $380,934,003; the value of manufactures of cotton was $442,451,218; the value of silk products was $133,288,072. In other words, while the total foreign commerce of the United States in 1906 was of the value of $2,970,428,343, the value of the five articles of inland commerce was in the enormous total of $5,573,133,828, exceeding the value of the foreign commerce by $2,602,705,485, or within a fraction of the value of the exports and imports.

It needs no argument to demonstrate that the question of transportation sums up the inland trade relations of the United States, nor does it need more than the facts of transportation, apparent to every section of the country and supplemented by the frank admission of railway officials, to demonstrate conclusively that in the adequate improvement of the rivers and harbors of the country the true and the permanent solution of the problem is to be found.

FROM THE PAGES OF FLORIDA PAPERS.

An Admirable Trait.

Gov. Broward has appointed Hon. M. A. Brown of Jacksonville inspector of naval stores for Florida. The Governor believes in remembering his old friends.—Palatka Times-Herald.

Nassau's Independence.

Talk about independence! Nassau county laughs in her sleeve during the time that other counties are offering their favorite sons for State offices. We haven't a State candidate over here.—Fernandina Record.

Another Evil of the Drought.

During the first part of this week mosquitoes were much more plentiful than in the past eight years. The long, dry spell is said to have been the cause of so many of these pests appearing this summer.—Titusville Advocate.

Frank Clark's Popularity.

There is not a man in the Second Congressional District who can defeat Frank Clark for Congress. We say this, too, despite the fact that Nassau was the only county in the State to endorse the twenty-five per cent dual contract of the opponent of Mr. Clark in his first race.—Fernandina Record.

Purely Honorary.

The editor of The C.-I. has been appointed by Governor Broward on the commission to erect a monument on the battlefield of Chickamauga, to the Florida soldiers who fought there. We thank the Governor for the honor, of course, but what bothers us is that there is no pay in the position and not a ghost of a chance for graft.—Bartow Courier-Informant.

True Words Timely Spoken.

We want to assure the people of Gadsden county that in the event Hon. James E. Broome offers himself for Governor that grand old county will stand the best chance of any of the several counties which have candidates for that exalted position. And to the whole State The Record can say that if Jim Broome is elected Florida will have a better Governor than she will have if any of the others at present named are elected.—Fernandina Record.

If Senator James E. Broome of Gadsden county should run for Governor, as he is being urged to do, he would have the solid support of the old Confederate Veterans throughout the State, as well as all others who desire retrenchment in the management of the State affairs. Jim Broome is a true friend of the people, free from all factional alliances, as he stated upon the floor of the Senate during the last session of the Legislature and as was demonstrated by his vote upon every measure coming before that body, and would make a Governor of whom every citizen of Florida would be proud.

SERMONETTES

BY J. MARVIN NICHOLS

An occult paper claims that every man is where he is by the law of his being, the thoughts that he has built into his character have brought him there, and in the arrangement of his life there is no element of chance, but all is the result of a law that cannot err. This is just as true of those who feel "out of harmony" with their surroundings as of those who are contented with them.

Parker H. Sercombe appropriately declares that the sex affairs of three people, and the shooting of one of them, in its relation to our population, is insignificant; but the bringing of the two living figures in the drama into the limelight of publicity, as the greatest hero and heroine of our times as examples of emulation by millions of young people—printing photographs in a thousand poses; misrepresenting testimony; making up daily page upon page of news when no news existed; anticipating occurrences and in cold blood attempting, for pay, to form public opinion so as to force the court to free Thaw—is a crime so stupendous as to place the original shooting scrape entirely out of the same class. If the crime of Thaw was killing one man, the crime of a subsidized and prostituted press is the killing of five hundred thousand.

It is said that the center of every funnel-shaped cyclone is in a state of perfect rest. However that may be, I know of a strange peace that comes to the heart even though it may be tossed like the angry waves of the wide sea. To explain—I cannot; I simply know. Away off toward the Sierras tonight there is a little woman whose pen is often stirred by the muses. The sweeter melodies are always born of a broken heart. The wild, lavish dream of girlhood days was snuffed out by the faithlessness of one she loved. Yet, in the unspeakable hush that followed in the wake of the storm her soul has come to perfect rest. On the depths of her blue eyes there is dawning a brighter day. Beneath the darkest bitterness of life, beneath the deeper waves in sorrow's sea, her sighing spirit is coming to perfect peace. She will find a surcease within the very heart of struggle and of strife. So it has always been.

There is only one time the heart is absolutely and tenderly true. It is that hour when one hears the far distant call and resolves to feel out in the darkness. He starts despite the sense of strangers and the land through which he journeys. He has heard the plaintive voice—he goes to find his own. Such a heart is braver than courage—stronger than death and distance. The very thought of being despised and rejected never dawns upon him. He is now led by the hand of destiny—he cannot fail. And at the end of the journey he draws to his heart the object of his quest. In its possession there is born a gladness that turns the long night into day. When this voice comes to you, clear and sweet, follow though it may lead through darkness for just a little while. Beyond the hills and valleys is a bosom in the hollow of whose shoulder you may pillow your weary head. On the upturned eyes will fall a vision of trust that shall be to you a shelter in the hour of storm.

Life's panorama—how mysterious when once we stop to watch its passing pageantry and pomp. The past crowded with happy days, the emblazoned hue that glides all the coming years—then, the enshrouding by yesterday's tragic hour. Into that fatal and faithless moment were thrown the delirious joys in all the years gone by. That terrible moment came with the stealth of a robber and stole our joys away. That moment of heart tragedy—the tomb of the past, the sepulchre of the future. What promise came with life's early morning! Hardly had the hills been crowned with sapphire glow before the shaddows creeped like a pall over the valley. In an hour of perfect peace the storm burst in fury upon us. Of course we staggered—of course we trembled like leaves in raging winds. God! Who can know the heart save the one who has suffered, too? Other than that is a language strange and a pilgrimage to distant lands where there is no light nor love.

Killed by a Live Wire.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 16.—Claude Finley, 21 years of age, an employe of the Southern Bell Telephone company, was killed by a live wire Saturday while at work on the top cross-tree on a telephone pole in the residential section of the city. An electric light wire from the city plant had become crossed with the telephone wires and in catching the latter Finley was badly burned on the hands, arm and leg. He fell across the network of wires and it was a half hour before his body was removed from the pole.

A LOST SWORD.

It Was Frederick the Great's and Was Confiscated by Napoleon.

While Prussia was at his feet after the battle of Jena, Bonaparte visited Potsdam, and there he saw the sword of Frederick the Great. He took possession of it, saying, "I value this sword more than all the treasures of Prussia." It was deposited at the Invalides on May 17, 1807, with military pomp and ceremony, to the immense gratification of the people of Paris.

But there came the black days of 1814, and with the allies on the point of entering the French capital the governor of the Invalides, Marshal Serrurier, received orders to take steps for the preservation of the precious trophies there collected, especially the sword of Frederick the Great. Interpreting this instruction in a peculiar fashion, the governor took effective measures for preventing them from falling into the hands of the enemy by making a bonfire of them, and it was said that he threw Frederick's sword into the flames.

This statement was confirmed as late as 1857 by an eyewitness. Thus matters rested, as was attested in 1830, when an official inquiry was made into the matter, between 1,500 and 1,600 war flags and other memorials of victory. The ashes and remains were thrown into the Seine at the mouth of a sewer.

The sword could not, of course, have been destroyed in the conflagration, but it was never seen again. It happened that in 1815 an engineer, having ascertained the precise spot where the debris from the fire had been put into the river, made a search and recovered from the bottom a considerable number of bronze and copper articles which were returned to the Invalides. But the sword of Frederick was not found.

One would like to think that it was not the fate of this historic weapon to rust away in foul mud, but that it had undergone the noble transformation of being turned into some implement of peaceful industry. Of this, however, there is no evidence.—London News

STRANGER THAN FICTION.

Lieutenant von Lemsberg of the Russian guards endured thirty-one years of penal exile and penal service in Siberia. He was in his day a fine looking and highly accomplished officer. Like many of his fellows, he borrowed money from City Councilor Wlassow, an old, good natured bachelor. Young von Lemsberg's notes continued to grow, and the old money lender threatened to sue unless some of them were redeemed. Then the young lieutenant became engaged to the daughter of Count Todleben and called on Wlassow to tell him the news and to ask for time. "You wait," said he, in a sneering way. "I'll give you a wedding present to be remembered." Believing this to have been a threat, the lieutenant called at the house the next day and deliberately cut his throat. He opened the old man's desk to find his promissory notes and discovered them neatly tied up, marked "Paid" and a document by which he would have become the heir of the man he had murdered. Overcome by remorse he surrendered to the authorities and was sentenced to life servitude in Siberia. Because of good conduct his irons were taken off after seven years, he married a woman who went into voluntary exile to be near a relative, started a vegetable shop in the penal settlement which grew until it became a great mercantile establishment, and when the war with Japan broke out he volunteered, became an officer, was decorated for bravery and received a full pardon.

The Luscious Grape.

The grape, whose purple flood man for century after century has converted into wine, is a Persian by birth. Its cradle was on the sunny hills to the south of the Caspian sea, and there the ancients ate it and enjoyed its acid taste. The men of Caubul ground it to a dry powder and ate it with relish, half as a medicine, half because they liked it. And then those days went by, and we hear of the renowned grapes of Palestine, which grew in immense clusters and weighed fifteen pounds to the bunch. Noah planted the vine immediately after the deluge. The book of Genesis mentions bread and wine, and the Israelites complained that Moses and Aaron had brought them out of Egypt into a dry and barren land where there were neither figs nor vines.

The Old Stagecoach.

Those who are accustomed to look back with longing eyes to the "good old days" will find it interesting to learn that in the middle of the eighteenth century the common carrier between Selkirk and Edinburgh, a distance of thirty-eight miles, required two weeks to make the journey. In 1778 it took a day and a half for a stagecoach to go from Edinburgh to Glasgow, only forty-four miles away. About the same time the swiftest stages seldom covered the road between Edinburgh and London, 310 miles, in less than two weeks, an average speed of about twenty-two miles a day.—St Louis Republic.

HOW BONNER WON SUCCESS

The career of Robert Bonner, the veteran publisher, furnishes a signal illustration of the value of persistent and ingenious advertising. When he began the publication of the paper whose phenomenal success brought him fame and fortune, he did not wait for the people to find out, slowly and gradually, the interesting features of his journal.

He forced his enterprise upon public attention by a systematic lavishness of expenditure for advertising which at that time was without precedent or parallel. Whole pages of daily newspapers were secured at high prices to blazon forth the merits of his undertaking.

From one end of the country to the other the names of Bonner and his Ledger were made familiar to the people by constant repetition.

Conservative publishers, jogging along in the ruts of old routine, prophesied, bankruptcy and ruin for this unconventional innovator, but Bonner kept on spending a large share of his receipts in buying publicity, and those receipts increased with startling rapidity.

Every dollar disbursed in this way brought in more dollars until croakers were confounded and pessimists in this particular branch of business silenced by his tremendous success.

The lesson is one that is as well worth heeding today as it was forty years ago.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

BRIEF DISPATCHES.

The Long Island Sound steamer Shinnecock, Greenport, L. I., for New York, with passengers, ran ashore on the northeast end of Hart island during a dense fog. Her passengers were taken off by tug boats in safety.

Vice President Fairbanks spent a quiet but enjoyable Sunday in Tacoma. Mr. Fairbanks made a brief address at the First Methodist church in the evening, leaving for Astoria, via Portland, at midnight.

No Mail For Him.

"Yes," remarked the driver, as his leaders swept round the turn into a lightly timbered stretch of level road in the Australian "bush," "you may not believe it, but those kangaroos are as clever as people." Then, in response to the inquiry of a passenger who contributes the story to Cassell's Magazine, he proceeded to tell why.

"Now, there's Moloney," he continued, "who owns the section on the other side of the creek. He trained one of them to meet the coach every week and get the letters for him.

"The kangaroo's pouch comes in real handy, ye see," he added, with the humor that belongs to the stage driver the world over.

Presently, as often happens on a quiet country road, a fine kangaroo, disturbed by the approach of his majesty's royal mail, came into view, as he raised himself from the grass where he had been feeding and looked toward the coach with an innocent, inquiring air.

"Nothing for you today, old man!" he called genially.

The kangaroo, as if that was all he had been waiting for, hopped quickly out of view among the trees, to the amusement of the box seat traveler and intense enjoyment of the other occupants of the coach.

The Money Making Game.

The first of all English games is making money. That is an all absorbing game, and we knock each other down oftener in playing at that than at football or any other rougher sport, and it is absolutely without purpose. No one who engages heartily in that game ever knows why. Ask a great money maker what he wants to do with his money—he never knows. He doesn't make it to do anything with it. He gets it only that he may get it. "What will you make of what you have got?" you ask. "Well, I'll get more," he says, just as at cricket you get more runs. There's no use in the runs, but to get more of them than other people is the game, and there's no use in the money, but to have more of it than other people is the game. So all that great foul city of London there—rattling, growling, smoking, stinking—a ghastly heap of fermenting brickwork, pouring out poison at every pore—you fancy it is a city of work? Not a street of it! It is a great city of play—very nasty play and very hard play, but still play. It is only Lord's cricket ground without the turf—a huge billiard table without the cloth and with pockets as deep as the bottomless pit, but mainly a billiard table after all.—John Ruskin.

A Difficult Feat.

Have you ever tried to stand upright on a log perhaps a foot across the butt out in an open lake, keeping your balance to every roll and dip of the log? Well, if you had you would realize better the marvelous balance of the man who not only has to do this, but also maneuver other logs down the current with a long pike pole, chain booms together with numbed fingers, and, in fact, do the whole of his day's work while balancing on a twirling, twisting, half submerged tree trunk.—Wide World Magazine.

Immune.

"You'd better get out. Here comes that idiot Boreham, and he's got a story he thinks is new that he'll insist on handing you."

"No, he won't. I'm immune."

"How's that?"

"I told him the story."—Cleveland Leader.

Worse Than He Felt.

Cutting—I suppose it did make you feel mean. Dubbs—Will, I should say! Why, I felt like a plugged nickel! Cutting—Ah! But what a blessing it is that we never feel quite as bad as we look.—Philadelphia Press.

A Practical Reason.

Investigating Teacher—Do any of you boys know why "X" stands for an unknown quantity? Wise Little Aleck—I know, 'cause my pa says when you lend an "X" you never know when you're going to get it back.—Baltimore American.

THE KNOWLEDGE THAT COUNTS.

It's The Lessons We Learn in Everyday Hard Work That Make Us Successful.

Mr. R. J. Reynolds, President and Founder of the largest manufacturing plant East of the Mississippi, belongs to that class of men whose success in life has been due to their own energy and industry, though the circumstances of Mr. Reynold's boyhood afforded him a sound basis upon which to build. He was endowed by nature with health and strength, full of energy and ambitious, while yet a tender age, to lead in whatever he undertook. His father, a large planter and manufacturer in Patrick County, Virginia, made his yearly contracts with his laborers on the condition that they kept up with young "Dick."

Even as a boy, Mr. Reynolds was never contented unless in some way employed. He found pleasure in tasks that others found too tedious or burdensome.

Mr. Reynolds, while in his teens, planted, cultivated, cured, manufactured and worked in every department of the manufacture, and had successfully held the position of manager of a factory. In the year 1875, hardly more than a boy, he was manufacturing tobacco under the name of R. J. Reynolds & Co., in a very small factory at Winston, N. C.

The methods and processes of manufacturing tobacco in those days were very crude. Other men were content with the machinery, processes and methods in use. Mr. Reynolds, and the men associated with him, worked out by experiment, the reasons for the prevailing methods, and by the help of the skilled men in charge of the various departments of the manufacturing plant, they invented, perfected and adopted improved machinery and processes, until today the flat plug tobacco industry has been completely revolutionized, and the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company is known as the largest, best equipped and cleanest flat plug tobacco manufacturing plant in the world. They now also own, for which a patent has been applied, the great discovery of a process for the manufacture of their new brand REFINED granulated smoking tobacco. It was discovered by eminent scientists and their experts on tobacco. After many years of study and experiment they found out how to produce the most delightful and harmless tobacco for pipe and cigarette smokers. It is proving a great favorite with smokers.

A visit to the now mammoth plant of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., proves not more interesting to the seeker for information and an insight into the tobacco manufacturing industry, than to the student of the labor problem. The visitor cannot but be impressed by the utmost harmony and good feeling which prevails between the employer and employed.

Strikes and other disagreements and labor agitations are unknown. Good hours and good wages, entirely acceptable to the employees, have always been allowed, which is fully manifested in the unusually large number of employees who started in with Mr. Reynolds many years ago and have never found it necessary to demand higher wages or to leave the employ of his company. Many of the heads of the various departments started in the business as boys and grew up under Mr. Reynolds' tutorship. With their ever increasing knowledge of tobacco, they developed into experts, and have brought into the business vigor and improvement. R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company's plant of Winston-Salem, N. C., U. S. A., stands a visible proof of foresight, united effort, untiring energy and the insistence upon fair dealing by its founder.

HE OVERDID IT.

A Last Wager That Might Perhaps Have Been Won.

When it got as far as the cigars at an informal supper the other night, at which the manager of one of the most talked of New York hotels was the host, the talk turned on the perfection of modern hotel management. The manager boasted of the fact that in his house at least the clerks were paragons of memory and cleverness.

"Yet I will bet the cigars," said one of the guests, "that exactly at midnight when the clerks change I, having no room here, can walk to the desk, ask for the key of a certain room, giving the number, and get it."

"Done," said the manager.

Exactly at 12 the man making the bet entered the lobby as if he had just come from the street. This dialogue followed at the desk:

"My key, please—No. 76."

"Yes, sir; what name?"

"Mr. Johnson."

"Yes, Mr. Johnson."

The clerk turned back to the desk as if to reach the key from the rack. For a moment he was out of sight of "Mr. Johnson."

Then to "Mr. Johnson's" dismay he was quietly seized by two men, who seemed to come up from the floor on either side of him and who asked him very politely, but with firmness, to leave the hotel at once.

It was then that the manager appeared from behind a pillar and explained.

A few moments later, when they were smoking the cigars, the chagrined loser said:

"Well, that's a wonderful thing. How the deuce do they remember everybody they see?"

"Easy enough," said the manager, "and then in this particular case there isn't a room in the house numbered below 100."

The loser bought more cigars without being asked.—New York Times.

COMEDY IN A CEMETERY.

It does not seem possible that one could run across a comedy in such a solemn place as a cemetery, yet there is, so the optimist assures us a little comedy in every situation. Surely in the romance of the old chestnut seller of Genoa and the chagrin of her fortune hunting spouse, both of whom figure in the local gossip and one of whom is immortalized in marble in the Campo Santo, one must admit that the situation is not without its lighter side. The most serious minded smile as they read the inscription which the shrewd old lady commanded the sculptor to chisel on her tomb.

Not so many years ago, so the story runs, one of the best known figures in the streets of Genoa was that of an old woman who made a living selling chestnuts. She was without beauty, but was gifted with a quality which no doubt stood her in better stead a native shrewdness which enabled her to buy her wares prudently and to sell them with a profit. It does not require a large income to live in Genoa, especially when one has not acquired extravagant tastes, so gradually the fortune of the worthy toiler grew and finally became large enough to be talked about. A lad more noted for his good looks than for principle or intellect caught the rumor of the fortune, sought the chestnut merchant and made straight for her heart, which was not long in responding. The subsequent marriage of the pair caused the knowing ones to smile.

After a short honeymoon it was brought to the notice of interested neighbors that the young husband was in search of work. His elderly bride disclaimed all knowledge of the rumored fortune and said that, as she was almost without a penny, she expected that he, too, would put his shoulder to the wheel. Between them a comfortable home might be supported and an occasional evening at the theater might be enjoyed. Not even yet having given up hope that the fortune would one day appear, the young husband led for a time an exemplary life, but finally patience gave place to discouragement, and love's young dream was shattered. Several years later the deserted wife died, and, like a mushroom in the night, sprang up in a conspicuous place in the Campo Santo a handsome monument representing, aside from the plot which it occupied, a snug fortune. The marble statue, of life size, represents the old lady, dressed in full gathered skirt, silk apron, fringed shawl and rosary wound around her fingers. Lest there should be a doubt about the history of the original and her romance the entire story is set upon the pedestal of the statue, explaining how the lady had been wooed, not, as she knew at the time, for her beauty or her virtue, but for her fortune, and how she had thwarted her mercenary lover by the purchase of this lasting memorial, which not only represented her husband's disappointment but might also serve as a warning to other. The statue is one of the most striking in the entire place.—Ladies Weekly.
